

RADIOMICS NEWS

the latest radiomics news, views and announcements

Welcome to the Radiomics Newsletter!

Dear SPP-colleagues,

While the world continues to face the challenges caused by COVID-19, we hope our 3rd newsletter finds you in best health. We are glad to inform you in today's edition about our upcoming events, which due to pandemic circumstances will take place online. Additionally, we are more than happy to announce the calls 2021 and to answer any further questions you may have.

Your coordination team

Important announcements

Events 2021

KICK-OFF MEETING „SPP Joint Publication“

JULY 2021

Based on several discussions over the last 1,5 years, the SPP is aiming to establish a joint consensus of radiomics and Deep / Machine Learning workflows to identify challenges, bottlenecks, and opportunities for the application in prospective studies and translation into clinical scenarios. The entire survey will be conducted as part of a Delphi process to ensure a maximum impact of our results.

Please join our survey kick off, in which we will highlight the motivation and background, and explain the process and roadmap. Also, we will have plenty of time for discussion.

MIDTERM MEETING

END of Q2 / BEGINNING of Q3 2021

Zoom-Meeting

Registration: the dial-in data and the program will follow soon

Gender Equality – Calls 2021

Shortly you will receive via E-Mail further information on our upcoming calls:

- Home office working places
- Student assistant (HiWi)
- Early Career Researchers

