

Professor Anca-L. Grosu is Honorary Fellow of the American College of Radiology (ACR), Washington DC

Prof. Anca-L. Grosu, MD, Chair of the Department of Radiation Oncology at the Medical Center – University of Freiburg, Germany, received Honorary Fellowship at the annual meeting of the American College of Radiology in Washington, DC in April 2022. The laudation by ACR President Beverly G. Coleman, MD, appreciated Prof. Grosu's contribution to the development of high precision radiation therapy by the use of advanced imaging in radiotherapy planning and monitoring so as to provide optimally personalized, effective and gentle treatment. The American College of Radiology, founded in 1923, has a leading role in the advancement of radiology, covering the fields of diagnostic and interventional radiology, radiation oncology / radiotherapy, nuclear medicine, and medical physics. The honor of being a Fellow of this prominent association ranks among the highest recognitions for radiologists, nuclear medicine physicians, medical physicists, and radiation oncologists.

